

Teaching Assistant (TA) for the 2026 GCI Summit in St Andrews, Scotland

What GCI is Looking For

GCI is seeking proactive leaders who are enthusiastic to learn and interact with students from other cultures. Successful applicants will be interested in social entrepreneurship and have excellent oral and written communication and problem-solving skills. Past experience working with secondary school students, living or traveling extensively abroad, or learning another language is preferred.

Desired Experience

- Experience as a camp counselor, college RA, or working with adolescents in a structured environment
- Ability to lead group events and facilitate planned workshops
- Highly responsible and comfortable with enforcing rules
- Ability to work effectively in a diverse team
- Flexible and comfortable pivoting
- Engaging and energetic personal affect

Eligibility

TA Applicants must meet the following criterion:

- Current college sophomore or above and/or at least 20 years old, recent college graduate or graduate student
- Prior experience working with youth as a teacher, resident advisor, mentor or counselor
- GCI Ambassador (alumni of GCI Fellowship or LEAD Challenge program)

Commitment

If selected, GCI Teaching Assistants must commit to the following:

- GCI Summit at the University of St Andrews from July 15-28 (including Orientation, Summit, and wrap-up)
- All pre and post-program requirements, including virtual orientation calls
- A background check

Expectations During the Summit

- Work closely with and receive coaching from the Bald Mountain Meadow team
- Ensure the safety and well-being of the Fellows
- Serve as a role model for the Fellows, especially as related to maintaining the standards laid out in the Rules & Regulations
- Adapt to an intensive schedule with evolving projects and events
- Support Fellows in developing GSPs
- Lead extracurricular activities in afternoons and evenings
- Play an active role in building community
- Execute program logistics and operations as instructed by the Bald Mountain Team
- Assist the Fellows in maintaining dorm cleanliness
- Be available for the entire Summit and able to disconnect from outside work, school, or volunteer commitments

Compensation: GCI will offer a stipend for the Teaching Assistant role during the GCI Summit. Orientation and Summit expenses including room and board, airfare, and local travel to/from St Andrews, Scotland and transportation during the Summit will be covered by GCI.

Application Materials & Requirements

Applicant biography, current Resume/CV, and an interview with the Bald Mountain team.

Interested? Applications accepted thru January 4, 2026. Decisions will be shared by the end January 2026.

Please apply online by visiting www.globalci.org